

HOUSE COMMITTEE WILL COUNT VOTES FROM CONNECTICUT

Chairman Goldfogle and Co-workers Have Big Task Following Protest.

An unusual task will be begun tomorrow by Chairman Goldfogle, and other members of the House Elections Committee No. 3, who must count the 20,000 ballots cast in the contested election case of Raymond J. Jodoin against Congressman Edwin W. Higgins, of the Third Connecticut district. Mr. Higgins, who is the Republican incumbent, is serving his third term in the House and Mr. Jodoin, Democrat, alleged he was not elected in the 1910 elections.

Mr. Higgins has a majority of only seventy-eight votes, under the first count. The contestant declares that there were errors in the counting of the ballots under the new Connecticut law and that he, Jodoin, will win Higgins' seat if the alleged irregular votes are thrown out. After hearing Jodoin's claims, the House committee determined to send for the ballots and to recount them. It is unusual for a House committee to undertake a recount of ballots, but an exception has been made in this instance because of the complicated nature of the charges. The ballots, sealed in 115 boxes, are now packed and sealed with the seal of the House. They were brought to Washington last week under guard.

It is estimated that Chairman Goldfogle and the Elections Committee will spend several weeks in examining the 20,000 ballots.

Today Anniversary Of Lincoln's Death

On April 15, 1865, President Lincoln died in Washington as the result of the assassin's attack upon him in Ford's Theater. He was born in Hodgenville, Ky., February 12, 1809. Fifty-one years ago today the Pope made official and emphatic protest against the establishment of the kingdom of Italy. On this day, 1755, Dr. Johnson's dictionary of the English language was published. This is the anniversary of the death in 1844 of Charles Bulfinch, the Boston architect, who drew the plans for the National Capitol. On this day, 1832, Lord Baltimore, the founder of the province of Maryland, died. One year ago today a group of American financiers made a $50,000,000 loan to China.

DR. CLEMONS' BODY WASHED ASHORE AT SHORT BEACH

Former Washington and New York Broker Lost Life in Storm.

The body found on the shore of Fire Island, N. Y., near the Short Beach Life-Saving Station yesterday, has been positively identified as that of Dr. Carl Clemons, the well-known broker and clubman of this city and New York, who, with two companions, was lost in Great South Bay, Long Island, on the night of January 6. Word was received by A. A. Clemons, a brother of the dead man, living at 3400 Prospect avenue northwest, this morning that the identification of the body had been made positive by his brother's partners in the New York brokerage firm of Carpenter, Clemons & McNamee.

Mrs. W. W. Clemons, mother of the dead physician, and who lives at the Albemarle apartments in this city, is in New York making arrangements for the funeral of her son. The funeral services will be held tomorrow at the former home of Dr. Clemons at Babylon, L. I. It was early in the afternoon of the day when he lost his life that Dr. Clemons started out on a hunting trip with Edwin Bailey and Capt. Tom Veitman, both of New York, in the Great South Bay. A violent storm came up several hours after the party left shore, and despite weeks of search by the life-savers along the coast no trace of the party was found. The finding of the body of Dr. Clemons yesterday shattered all hopes harbored by relatives of the three men that they had been picked up by a foreign-bound liner. Dr. Clemons was educated in this city and received his medical degree from the George Washington University.

Reception Planned For College Head

Whiteside, Fifteenth Cavalry, Justice Lamar, Chief Justice Eshpard, of the Court of Appeals; Thomas Nelson Page and the Rev. Dr. McRandolph McKim, of Epiphany Church. A meeting of the committee was held Saturday evening at the residence of Glenn Brown.

MAN UNDER ARREST STILL REFUSING TO DISCUSS HIS PAST

Police Are Endeavoring to Learn More of Alleged Burglar.

Efforts are being made by the police today to learn something of the history of a man giving the name of William Howar, who was arrested by Central Office detectives after an exciting chase in Pennsylvania avenue yesterday, and found to have in his possession a number of articles which the police say resemble burglars' tools. Except to say his home is in Newark, N. J., Howar declines to tell anything about himself or say where he has been stopping while in Washington.

The police had been looking for the man since a week ago today, when, it is alleged, he sold several pieces of silverware. Yesterday Detectives Berman, Vermillion, Cox, and McNamee met the man on the street. He ran as the detectives approached him, they say, but was caught after running about a block. In the man's possession when he was taken to headquarters the police say they found a "jimmy," bita, drills, an electric flash lamp, and other paraphernalia.

Photographs and Bertillon measurements of the prisoner were sent out by the police today in an effort to learn if he has ever been arrested before.
